

From Our CEO

“Our vision is to fulfill the promise of the Trust to serve our customers and communities with unparalleled excellence and integrity. The promise of the Trust also means we will deliver value to the beneficiaries of the Trust, the people of Indianapolis.

Among other things, this means we will operate our business in a way that contributes to the benefit of economic development and the health of our local economy. Supplier diversity is a key element of this objective. We want all suppliers to compete fairly and equally for our business. By practicing supplier diversity, buyers receive the very best products and services at the best value and the local economy thrives with a marketplace with open access and fair and equal treatment for all. Everyone is better off.”

- Carey Lykins
President & CEO

Supplier Diversity

Positively Impacting Our Community

Prospective Suppliers

At Citizens Energy Group, we are committed to and take responsibility for making a positive impact in the communities we serve.

We are committed to increasing business opportunities for local small businesses, including minority- and women-owned business enterprises (M/WBE).

Citizens Gas utilized diverse contractors and suppliers during the construction of the Heartland Gas Pipeline.

Through our Supplier Diversity program, we work to strengthen and utilize small businesses, thereby adding value to our supply chain. We endeavor to build long-lasting relationships with our suppliers - they are important components of our success.

We look for suppliers who share our values and commitment to quality, integrity and who are in compliance with the law.

To become a Citizens supplier, a vendor must practice sound business ethics, as well as good environmental and safety management practices. Our qualified suppliers meet our quality standards.

Business is awarded based on the best combination of the following factors: cost and quality of goods and services, delivery that meets or exceeds our needs, a supplier's financial standing, timely and effective communication, and investment in innovation and growth.

Our Procurement Department manages the sourcing and supplier processes for the purchasing of direct and indirect goods and services.
